GOOD NEWS FOR PHARMACY TECH TRAINEES...JOBS, JOBS, JOBS!!

Pharmacy technicians work under a licensed Pharmacist to perform a variety of tasks. Pharmacy techs often are responsible for counting, labeling, and mixing medication. They also work with insurance companies, run the register and provide customer service. The job growth for pharmacy technicians is expected to increase by an astounding 32% until 2016 according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS.) In addition, job prospects for a pharmacy tech are projected to be good for full and part-time work according to the BLS.

Pharmacy technician careers have a very promising outlook!

MEDICAL BILLING & CODING: "FASTEST GROWING OPPORTUNITY"

"Medical Billing and its related occupations continue to be the fastest growing opportunities in health care. Insurance companies and the government are spending more time and money researching and controlling claims fraud, abusive practices, and medical necessity issues. Because of this, insurance companies, doctors, hospitals, pharmacies, and other providers are hiring more. Many positions are available in doctor's offices, hospitals, pharmacies, nursing homes, rehab centers, insurance companies, accounting offices, and legal offices."—from health-carejobs.org

Going all the way to a PCT certification after completing your CNA training is easy. Just take EKG/Phlebotomy at ABC, and you're eligible to take your licensing exam. We make it easy for working CNA's —you can take the training needed to update your skills at night, or on weekends...while you continue to earn your CNA salary! Or, you can just sign up for our combined CNA/EKG/Phlebotomy program for a PCT certificate earned from scratch! Either way, ABC will prepare you for the certification exam that you can take right on our premises.

PCT's increase their earning power and greatly broaden their opportunities to work in a number of different medical settings.

MAKE YOURSELF MORE IN DEMAND.
